

Having worked directly in the printing industry since 1984, Extreme Exposures has evolved with technology in the offset printing industry from photoreproductive techniques to the digital realm. 4-color process in the past required deep pockets to even consider order print projects in full color. Now with Direct-to-print offset technology, vibrant, full color printed items are affordable to everyone.

Extreme Exposures will design your project that is ready for print with no design issues that will slow up production schedules. We will deliver ready to print files to clients who wish to handle their own print ordering, or we will handle the whole process so all you have to do is wait for the UPS Delivery van to show up to your door!
